The Vermont Archaeological Society Electronic Newsletter

Greetings!

Public Meeting on April 29 to get comments on Proposed Revisions to the "Historic Sites and Act 250" Rules

The VT Division for Historic Preservation is seeking comments from all interested stakeholders on the final version of the Division's proposed revisions to Rule 4 on "Historic Sites [including archeological resources] and Act 250."

The Rule sets out how the Division conducts its review process for historic buildings, structures and archeological sites.

In 2001, the Vermont Division for Historic Preservation (DHP) promulgated Rule 4 to describe its process in the course of Act 250 reviews.

In 2009, the DHP proposed revisions to Rule 4 in an attempt to clarify the DHP's role under Act 250 law. The many useful comments received in the summer of 2009 helped produce a much more useful, clearer, and comprehensive rule.

For a full copy of existing Rule 4, proposed Rule 4, all comments received during the 5 public meetings held last summer, and other stakeholder comments, go to: www.historicvermont.org/programs/Rule%204/archo_act250_publicmeetings.htm

Public Meeting to get comments on the proposed "Historic Sites and Act 250 Rules"

VAM 2010

Some clarification is necessary on the information presented in the previous newsletter.

It was stated that the VAS would be offering three workshops in pottery manufacture, a flintknapping workshop and the Atlatl workshop. The Atlatl workshop is offered by Chimney Point State Historic site and the Vermont Division for Historic Preservation, not the VAS. We regret the error.
