The Vermont Archaeological Society Electronic Newsletter

Greetings!

A new book, Current Research in New York Archaeology: A.D. 700-1300, edited by John Hart and Christina Rieth has just been published by the New York State Museum. The volume is published as part of the New York State Museum Record Series. The New York State Museum Record is a peer-reviewed, open-access series published on an occasional basis by The University of the State of New York/The State Education Department. The volume is based on a symposium organized for the annual meeting of the New York State Archaeological Association and highlights the range of archaeological research being conducted in New York between A.D. 700-1300. The volume is available at http://www.nysm.nysed.gov/publications/record/vol_02/index.html

Conference on New England Archaeology

CNEA provides an annual conference to discuss theoretical issues in New England archaeology.

The Conference on New England Archaeology was formed in 1979 to strengthen communication and facilitate a continuous interchange of information among archaeologists who work in New England.
