Front Cover Photo: The remains of a stone-type conical charcoal kiln at “the Burden Lots” on the western slope of East Mountain in Shaftsbury. Dozens of kilns such as this made charcoal for the H. Burden & Sons blast furnace at South Shaftsbury in the 1860s-1870s. Abandoned over 125 years ago, silent sentinels such as this give testimony to a nearly forgotten industrial era in Vermont’s history. (Photo by Victor R. Rolando)
